A. Not specifically related to September 8, but relating to my time at Lehman Brothers in Treasury, I am aware that from time to time there have been discrepancies between our market values and JPMorgan market values. And again, not specifically related to September 8, but related to my time at Lehman Brothers, I am aware that there had been working groups between Lehman and JPMorgan to try to understand the differences.

Q. Let's roll over into the week of September 15. What I would like to do for the next little while is now walk through and find out from you what you were doing, where you were during that week, and let's take it almost day by day.

So let's start with September 15. You recall September 15, right?

A. I -- well, I have -- let me kind of make a general statement. In the week preceding September 15, I think the month preceding September 15, Lehman had -- my team in Treasury, including myself, including Paolo Tonucci, had been working very long hours trying to satisfy various requests for information from the rating agencies, from different regulators, from our own internal management, and that probably was -- that workload increased at the beginning of September 8, just among many other things, because it was the end of our quarter, August 31, so we had to prepare our earnings release.

The week of September 15 is almost a year -- it's almost a year ago, and I have some recollection, not detailed recollection, now of what happened that week.

Q. Okay. Fair enough. So what I'd like to do for the next little while is get your recollection of what you were doing that week and certain events that week, and later on this morning, we'll go back and look at some documents that might help you remember other aspects of that week. Fair?

Q. So let's go back to September 15. You remember September 15, generally, right?

A. I remember -- what I remember from September 15 is me walking into the office and having to tell my team that Lehman Brothers had filed for bankruptcy. I think it must have been on the morning of September 15th, but I learned about the decision I think late on Sunday, September 14.

Q. That weekend leading into September 15, where were you?

A. That weekend I was -- I was working in the office, either in my own office, which is at 1301 Sixth Avenue, which is where Treasury was located, and I was also at 745 Seventh Avenue.

Q. And what were you doing that weekend in the office?

A. I was helping Paolo Tonucci as best as I could. We had several requests for information and we were also trying to finalize our liquidity metrics for September 12.

Q. The requests for information that you had, were those from prospective buyers of #### HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. AZERAD Lehman Brothers?

A. I don't recall precisely. They may have been. There were also requests from the Federal Reserve as well.

Q. Were you aware of indications of interest to purchase Lehman in the days leading up to 15th?

A. Yes, I was.

Q. And were you involved at all in providing information to any of those parties that had expressed an interest in Lehman Brothers?

A. I remember having a meeting with Bank of America in the week ending September 14th. I don't remember which days precisely of the week. I don't remember which days precisely, but it must have been toward the second half of that week, so from the 10th to the 12th. And I was also aware of an interest by Barclays, and I may, although I don't recall precisely, I may have provided information to Barclays.

Q. You described some requests for information from the Fed. Do you recall the nature of those requests?

A. The Fed was interested in our liquidity metrics.

Q. And you stated that that weekend, the weekend of the 13th and 14th, some of your time was spent assessing your liquidity metrics for the 12th; is that correct?

A. That is correct.

Q. Can you describe further what you mean by that?

A. There was some uncertainty about where we finished our liquidity from a liquidity standpoint at the end of the 12th. There were large movements of securities and cash between Lehman and the street and also across Lehman entities, and there was a team of people, #### HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. AZERAD primarily led by Prime Services, which was trying to get a better handle on what happened.

Q. Now, on or about the 12th of September you learned of some changes in the way the Fed was going to be applying haircuts to the collateral in the Fed facility; is that right?

A. Not on the 12th. It was on the -- it must have been on the 14th or the 15th.

Q. Okay. And what was your understanding of the change in the Fed's approach to haircuts in that time period?

A. What I recall was on the -- either on the 14th or on the 15th, the Fed made an announcement extending liquidity facilities to other broker-dealers, Merrill Lynch, Goldman Sachs, Morgan Stanley, in particular, but did not make the same offer to Lehman Brothers.

So, in particular, because it became a critical funding facility during the week of September 15th, the primary dealer credit facility, which is typically referred to as a PDCF, we -- Lehman was operating under a different schedule, haircut schedule, I believe, than what was offered to other broker-dealers.

Page 34 1 HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. AZERAD 1 HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. AZERAD 2 2 Q. And was the haircut schedule that as LBI. 3 3 Lehman was operating under, was that itself O. We did not use the PDCF on the 12th. 6 O. I mean LBI. 7 7 A. For LBI, we had a few term repo We started using it on the 15th. 8 Q. Okay. So on the 15th you described 8 transactions that were struck before the 15th one of the tasks you dealt with on the 15th was 9 9 and contractually obliged to continue since LBI . 0 telling your team about the filing of the 10 was still in operations, and then we had the --11 11 bankruptcy, right? and then we had the PDCF. 12 12 A. Uh-huh. Q. If I understand your earlier answer Q. Yes? 13 correctly, you said the PDCF became available to 13 14 14 A. That is correct. Lehman on the 15th? 15 15 A. No, it was available prior to the O. In terms of reviewing and managing Lehman's liquidity on the 15th, what were you 16 16 15th. We did not use it except for a few test 17 117 trades when it became available back in I doing? 18 A. We were trying to kind of grapple with 18 believe March or April of 2008, but it was the aftermath of a bankruptcy of Lehman Brothers 19 available prior to the 15th. 19 20 20 Holding. Our liquidity at Lehman was global --Q. And other than the PDCF, what other Fed facilities were available to Lehman, to LBI, our liquidity reporting was global in nature and 21 21 2.2 primarily focused on the holding company, and we 22 for funding on the 15th? 23 had to change our focus starting on the 15th to 23 A. We were also using the TSLF. I don't 24 now focus on our U.S. broker-dealer, Lehman recall precisely how much we were funding 24 25 Brothers, Inc., which is typically referred to 25 through the TSLF, but it was -- it was primarily TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580 Page 36 HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. Did Lehman also amend its existing 8 that week went on? 9 tri-party funding agreement with Barclays on the 9 10 10 15th? 11 A. I don't recall. 11 12 Q. Do you have a general recollection 12 13 that Lehman began to borrow from Barclays during 13 14 that week, the week of the 15th? 14 18th, the Thursday. 15 A. Yes, we entered into a repo 15 16 16 transaction. I don't recall when. It must have 17 17 been either on the 15th or the 16th. 18 18 Q. Did you play any role in negotiating 19 19 that repo transaction with Barclays you say Fed? 20 either on the 15th or the 16th? 20 21 21 A. I did not play any role in 22 22 negotiating.

A. To the best of my recollection, my TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580 Page 37 HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. AZERAD primary role was just to report on our secured funding position for LBI. So, because it became available and because it became a source of funding, it became part of a reporting. Q. And do you understand that the nature of the funding provided by Barclays changed as A. A. I may -- I may recall that it was being shrunk. If you look at page 3 of the Exhibit 140A, the majority of the matched book is in an asset class called Government & Agencies, which was -- generally, it's a very liquid asset class. A lot of financing transaction is not only through tri-party repo, but also through a central clearing counterparty called the FICC, and most of our effort in terms of understanding secured funding was not -- was not focused on that particular line.

Q. If you look at the last column, which is titled "-(A)+(B)+(C)," do you have any understanding of what information is contained in that column or how it relates to the other columns?

A. Well, you mean what does it -- can you just rephrase your question?

Q. I can see the total. I'm just trying TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580 Page 67

HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. AZERAD to figure out what's the significance of the last column? What does it identify?

A. When you look at -- again, I don't recall precisely why I did this analysis, but from kind of conceptually what was based on my understanding today, what the analysis is trying to show is if you look at securities that LBI had, they can be categorized in kind of two groups: They're securities owned by LBI and securities borrowed by LBI.

The securities borrowed by LBI would be in column B and column C and securities -column A is an adjustment because these were securities most likely, though not with certain, that was lent to LBIE. So, to the extent that they were owned by LBI, it would probably be safe to assume that they would not be returned to LBI.

Q. So the last column is just showing that information on that basis?

A. So that column is just how much securities net of what we have lent we have borrowed from LBIE, and then the matched book. prop matched book to be precise, of LBI is.

HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. AZERAD Barclays?

A. Yes.

Q. Can you just generally describe that process?

A. My role in that process was, as part of the role in Treasury of liquidity reporting, we had an understanding about the secured funding of LBI. We also had because it was a source, it was a use of unsecured funding about the unencumbered assets, meaning assets funded unsecured left in LBI, so it was I was asked during that week to help various people with trying to identify assets that could be transferred to Barclays.

Q. Do you recall whether it was earlier in the week or later in the week that you were asked to be involved in this process?

A. I don't remember when it started. I was clearly involved starting the 18th. It may have been earlier.

Q. And who had asked you to become involved in this process?

A. I don't recall precisely. My best recollection would have been Paolo Tonucci.

A. Well, Martin Kelly was involved, Gerry Reilly was involved, Ian Lowitt was involved, Frank Pearn was involved, and Operations obviously was involved as well. So people like Jim Hraska would have been involved as well.

Q. And on Friday, the 19th of September, do you recall any discussions about identifying a specific target number of additional assets to be identified for transfer to Barclays?

A. I don't recall specific -- I don't recall specifically a target number. I do recall that there was additional work on the 19th and in subsequent days about assets to be transferred to Barclays.

Q. And you were involved on the 19th and on subsequent days in that process of identifying additional assets to be transferred to Barclays, correct?

A. I was, although my role became more of a project -- more of a coordinator as opposed to a data provider. One of the issues that we faced on the 19th, and it did not get resolved

TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. AZERAD prior to when the transaction closed, was that we relied, to do some of the analysis, we relied on information provided by JPMorgan Chase, and I believe starting on the 19th, JPMorgan Chase did not provide us with the information. So the data that I had access to was not -- was no longer reliable and Operations became the primary source of data.

Q. Starting on the 19th, were you relying also on information provided by Bank of New York?

A. Starting on the 19th, I recall having a series of e-mail exchanges with people at Barclays about trying to understand which assets had been transferred between Lehman and Barclays. There were, at least from the Lehman perspective, I obviously cannot talk on behalf of Barclays, there were some uncertainty about which assets had been received by Barclays. So the files that Barclays sent me may have been created by Bank of New York. That I don't know. I just thought of them as being the Barclays

"I don't recall" as opposed to "I TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. AZERAD don't know."

Q. Do you recall any process of reconciling the Barclays file or the Bank of New York file against the Lehman information concerning the same assets?

A. Well, we had a list of assets that we thought got transferred to Barclays. Barclays had a list of assets that it claimed to have received. So part of our job was to compare the two files and to flag out any differences.

Q. And were you involved in that process?

A. I was involved in that process.

Q. And tell me roughly how long that process took to run its course.

A. I don't recall when this process ended. At some point what I recall is that the process migrated to operations. Again, just to repeat myself, after the 19th, Treasury, for a variety of reasons, was no longer a reliable source of information.

So we had people who were able to do what I would call number-crunching analysis, but we had to rely on other people's files to do the data, and to the extent that there was need for

TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. AZERAD a conciliation, it would have been done by Operations I believe within Lehman.

Q. I've handed you a multi-page document previously marked as Exhibit 2. Take a look at the cover e-mail and the attached spreadsheets. Let me know when you're done.

(Document review.)

A. Before we review the document, if I may ask a question. Is a question going to be on the spreadsheet, and at which point we need to review the spreadsheet carefully, or is it going to be on the cover e-mail?

O. Let me start with the cover e-mail, and I think what's the first page of the spreadsheet or what appears to be a summary page.

A. Okay.

Q. I'll start there, but I might ask you questions about the spreadsheet later, so let's take it in stages.

A. Okay. I will then do just a cursory review of the spreadsheet.

Q. That's good idea. (Document review.)

- Q. And that process, is that the same process you were testifying about before, which is going through and identifying assets that were available to be transferred to Barclays?
- A. No, these were two separate things. They were what I would call, even though the term is probably slightly ironic, but there is what I would call the "business as usual liquidity reporting," which that week was anything but usual, and we were trying to understand the liquidity position of LBI because LBI's position that week was precarious, was fragile, and so getting a handle of just where LBI's liquidity position was was a critical mission.

That's -- but that's separate from what I would call the special project or the one-off requests that I was working on in TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580 Page 83

There were other people also involved. I don't remember whether they were involved that particular -- that particular night of the 18th.

A. The report that we were providing on the 19thto the extent that it came from Treasury as opposed to us using someone else's file, would have been most likely sourced from GFS.

Q. Do you recall there being any discussion on the 19th about whether you were going to use GFS pricing or Bank of New York pricing or some other pricing for these assets?

A. No, on the 19th -- I don't recall. What I recall on the 19th is that we were operating under a great deal of uncertainty primarily because we did not receive the file from JPMorgan or information from JPMorgan. That's what I primarily recall from what happened on the 19th.

A. I don't recall.

Q. So, as far as your recollection goes, on Friday, the 19th, there could have been borrowings under the Barclays repo as well as under the Fed facility?

A. No, on the 19th, I would have known how LBI would have been, to the best of my knowledge, and there were, as I said, there was uncertainty, but I would have known that there were -- that the PDCF would not -- would have been reduced to zero.

What I was trying to say is that I would have looked at the -- I would have looked at the outputs. This is kind of how LBI was funded that night. I was -- I don't recall having any discussion of the Barclays repo resulting in the Fed facility being reduced to zero.

Q. Okay. The issues you referenced before about having -- not getting the data from JPMorgan on the 19th?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. Did Lehman get, subsequent to the 19th, data from JPMorgan with market value calculation?

A. It may have, but at that point I don't think that when I transferred from Lehman to Barclays that JPMorgan provided the information. It may have provided it subsequent to that, but I'm not aware of it. I mean, just --

Q. Finish your answer. Go ahead.

A. I just want to add one thing. I do recall receiving a file on Sunday, not directly, but indirectly, but the file was from JPMorgan, but the file had some errors in it which was -and I don't think that we -- and that was, that was I believe having to do with securities held by JPMorgan, but it was, because it had errors in it, it was not deemed to be a dependable

A. To my recollection, the file that I received on Sunday had to do with securities held by JPMorgan.

Q. So not related to Barclays' repo, is that what you're saying?

A. Well, you can always create a link between the two, but not -- but in a stricter sense, no.

Q. I'm just trying to understand -- MR. STERN: In other words, related to is a very broad concept.

- Q. Let me ask you then, did the JPMorgan valuation that you received that Sunday contain valuations of the securities that had been pledged by Lehman to Barclays under the Barclays repo?
- A. No. Again, it refers to my knowledge, it refers to securities held by JPMorgan. It would have been -- it would have been a fact which would have been helpful had it been accurate because we were trying to understand which -- to reconcile what we thought was

So having information related to the securities that JPMorgan had kept would have been helpful by just kind of -- in us trying to understand what was transferred to Barclays from our perspective, but there were, from what I recall, errors in the file.

Q. And what's your understanding about the nature of the errors? Were they valuation errors? Identification of Cusip errors? What was the nature of the errors?

A. From what I remember, they were double-counting of securities.

Q. Were you involved in any efforts to rectify those errors, to have a conversation with JPMorgan to correct the file?

A. From what I recall, when JPMorgan sent us the file, it was not -- it was part of an ongoing negotiation between Lehman and JPMorgan. I was not part of these discussions.

A. I believe, although I don't have detailed knowledge, but the transaction on the 18th was done under the tri-party repo agreement between Lehman and Barclays and it would have been under a tri-party repo agreement the responsibility of a custodian to make sure that Barclays was appropriately collateralized.

One led by Treasury, the effort led by Treasury essentially fizzled because we didn't have good information. We eventually, I don't know when exactly the decision was made, we relied on the file provided by Operations, I believe Jim Hraska or someone working for Jim Hraska.

My vague recollection is that the amounts were about the same, may have been slightly different, but I think that they were roughly kind of roughly in the same ballpark, and so when you ask me the question of is the 1. -- is there a 1.9 and does it refer to the same 1.9 that you refer to in Exhibit 151A, I have trouble answering the question.

Q. Okay. Were you aware of any discussions in connection with preparation of Exhibit 178A about --

A. You mean 178?

Page 135

Q. 178. Let me start again.

Were you aware of any discussions in connection with the preparation of Exhibit 178 about including or excluding the non-actionable box from the calculation of assets?

A. My understanding and my recollection, I should say, is that the non-actionable box, which again refers to the ability in a normal market environment to finance assets in a secured basis, that's what it means by non-actionable, was not a determining factor on whether or not assets in that box could or could not be transferred to Barclays.

O. Were the items in that box included in the assets that are set forth in Exhibit 178A --

Again --

MR. STERN: Why don't you take your time and read 178 and think about the question.

A. I mean, if I look at Exhibit 178 and the e-mail from Brett Beldner to Martin Kelly, item number 1 in that e-mail talks about 2 billion of assets that may be -- that may not --

Page 136

HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. AZERAD

that may be locked up. In between parentheses it says "can be transferred."

That seems to indicate, again, reading this e-mail today, that we're still talking about the same 1.9 billion that I referred to as of Exhibit 151A, because at that point we knew that the quality of the work that was done by Treasury -- we knew that the work that was being done by Treasury to look -- to create the list of assets that could be transferred to Barclays was relying on information that may or may not be correct. That's because at that point we didn't have, I believe, good information in GFS, which was the source of information for Treasury.

But it looks as if, based on the e-mail from Brett Beldner in paragraph 1, that we're still talking about the same 1.9 billion. So if this is correct, then to go back to your earlier question, then, yes, 1.9 referred to in 151A, based on my interpretation in Brett's e-mail, would have been included in the spreadsheet found on page 2 of Exhibit 178.

Q. And in the answer you just gave you

Page 137

HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. AZERAD discussed the quality of the GFS information?

A. That's correct.

Q. What were the problems you were having with the GFS information that weekend?

A. The primary issue from a Treasury standpoint is that we had not ascertained which securities were kept by JPMorgan and which securities were being allocated to Barclays, and there were also, besides Barclays, there were also I believe two or three repo counterparts which also were funding LBI as of Friday night.

I don't remember, I believe one of them was BGI, Barclays Global Investors, but that was separate from the transaction that we had with Barclays. That was a long-standing repo transaction. One of them was Dresdner Bank and I don't remember the name of the third repo counterpart.

So because we didn't have the, what we call the allocation file from JPMorgan, it was difficult for us in Treasury to understand what assets were -- could be transferred to Barclays. What was -- what happened is Operations, which was looking at actual depot position, was able Page 138 Page 139 HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. AZERAD 1 1 HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL - R. I just want to better understand these 5 other depot as well that LBI had in the U.S. and 6 different sources of information. AZERAD difficult for a variety of reasons, but to the best of my understanding, primarily because it was, when I had a discussion with someone from the Reg. group, and I don't remember which person, it was explained to me that the 15c3-3 formula was supposed to apply to a going concern entity, not an entity which had filed for bankruptcy or receivership.

Q. He refers to the ADI. Do you know what that stands for?

- A. I believe A and D stands for aggregate debit. I'm not sure what the "I" --
  - Q. Items?

A. -- stands for.

Q. That's a portion of the calculation that needs to be locked up; is that correct?

A. That's my understanding. That's my understanding.

I recall that at that time in September we sometimes used ADI to identify a part of the cushion which I referred to earlier, which is cash or securities provided by LBI as part of a 15c3 -- as part of a lockup required by the calculation.

TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

Q. So if the cushion gets released, does the ADI also get released, or does it remain?

MR. STERN: Objection to the form.

- A. I'm not an expert of the -- of the 15c3-3 formula. My understanding is the ADI is part of a formula driving the assets to be segregated. To the extent that the formula changes, then you may have adjustments upward or downward to the assets that needs to be segregated. But it doesn't sound natural to me to talk about the ADI being released. The ADI is just an item in the formula.
- Q. If you look at the e-mail just below the one that we're looking at, it's an e-mail from Martin Kelly to Mark Lee, he writes, "We need to get for ourselves and give to Barclays comfort that the ADP balances will be meaningfully reduced. We put in 3.9 billion as a placeholder." That's what Mr. Kelly's e-mail says, correct?
  - A. That's what it says, yes.
- Q. I realize this is something that he wrote, but do you have any understanding as you sit here today as to what that means?

- A. No, I don't recall.
- Q. Do you recall any discussions about a $3.9 billion placeholder?
  - A. I don't recall.

Q. Do you recall anything about an effort to reduce the ADP balances?

A. Not specifically. The thrust of the efforts as I recall around the 15c3-3 formula and lockup at that time was since LBI -- this was, again, either -- I don't remember when LBI filed for receivership, it was either shortly before or shortly after, was to provide for the unwind of the -- of the items requiring for a segregation of under a 15c3-3 formula in the way that was as expeditious as possible, but I don't recall specific discussion around the ADP.

Q. When you talk about operations function, is there a component of that of your work that covers valuing or marking assets?

A. I want to be very precise about the way I would describe that. There is a function in operations that values positions, but that's using data, pricing data, that is either purchased from a third party or is consumed from a front office trading source, so we are not determining a valuation on a security. We do not determine valuation.

Q. But you mark the security with this information that you receive from a third source?

A. It's a mechanical process. Inventory, mark, it gives you a result. It's not -- you are not applying any thought to it other than is that actually the security that 22 our mark ties out to.

Q. Could we go back now to your last position you held at Lehman.

First of all, how long did you work

TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

Page 15

1 Blackwell - Highly Confidential 2 for Lehman?

A. I worked for Lehman from November 27th, 2000 until the 22nd of September, 2008.

Q. And what was the last position you held at Lehman?

A. I was global head of operations for both capital markets and IMD. I was in the process of taking responsibility for Aurora loan services, but I hadn't been formally announced, so that was matter of a few weeks' worth of effort, but I didn't have any formal management responsibility at that point, so you will see information in my e-mails associated with Aurora.

O. And who did you report directly to in that position?

A. I reported to Ian Lowitt.

Q. Anyone else?

Α.

21 Q. And who were your direct reports?

22 In the United States, Neal Ullman,

23 who is global head of our clearance and custody function. Monty Forrest, who is global head of prime services operations. Kirk Butryn who was 25 TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

Blackwell - Highly Confidential co-head of equity operations. Alex Crepeau, who was responsible for regulatory operations, tax, operations control, client valuations and margin. I believe that's all of them from memory. In the U.K. there is a gentleman called Garth Barker Goldie, who is responsible for European operations, and in Asia, Christopher Flanagan, who was responsible for our Asian operations. And there was also -- 13 CAO. 14 Q. Can you explain to me in your Lehman 15 role whether your group was responsible for 16 valuing or marking securities? Same question 17 only I am trying to see if the Lehman role was

Stewart Nineham who was my CAO in -- global actually, there is another gentleman called

18 the same. 19 A. It was identical. In terms of 20 consumption of data, any model-driven pricing would be front-end trading, trading responsibility to provide a mark, and finance function at Lehman Brothers, product control,

24 for want of a better term, was responsible for price testing, so they would test the models to

TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

Blackwell - Highly Confidential ensure that those were accurate and produce the result that they were intended to do.

Q. And who were in charge of those functions at Lehman: do vou recall?

Α. The front office was various different business heads, so, I mean, ultimately it would have been Bart as president and head of risk effectively, but Gelband was responsible for the fixed income division and Jerry Donini was responsible for equities, and the IMD business theoretically didn't take any risk.

Q. I don't mean to be intrusive, but I have to ask you some questions about your compensation.

17 MR. SHAW: This is all highly 18 confidential.

19 MR. HINE: Yes.

> Q. When you transitioned from Lehman, your position at Lehman to your position at Barclays, did your compensation increase?

A. No, actually, it declined.

24 Q. Declined. In what way? 25

I had a two-year guarantee from TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

Blackwell - Highly Confidential Lehman Brothers in 2007 and the first year of that guarantee was -- for 2007 I think was

$2.7 million. The second year was 5

$3.5 million. My -- obviously the majority of 6 that comp gets paid in stock. At the point of transition there was a process which you

8 probably see in my e-mail where I was offered a certain role and I considered it over a period

10 of time and decided to do something slightly

11 different and at that point we agreed that I 12 would have a two-year contract because of

13 uncertainty about where the future would lead

14 and the compensation was tied to my 2007

15 number, so it was probably approximately $700,000 less. There were some additional 16

17 incentive payments for longevity at two points

18 in September of this year and September of next, but I think the headline number was 20 probably less than overall what my Lehman

21 compensation would have been in 2008. 22

Q. And what position were you considered for that -- you alluded to a suggestion of a position and you opted for something else. Could you just explain to me

TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

Blackwell - Highly Confidential what you meant by that?

A. I had been global head at Lehman

3 4 for, I think, three or four months, a

5 relatively a short period of time. The role

6 that I was offered was running Americas 7 operations and being co-head of the equity

8 operations organization. In my mind that was

9 taking me back four or five years in my career

10 and I didn't really see the -- it didn't feel

11 appropriate, so I was a little unhappy that

12 that was what I was being offered and I

13 certainly wasn't -- yeah, I was -- it wasn't -- it didn't feel like the right thing for me at 15 that point, but I was very keen to help everyone with the integration process. I felt 16

I had a moral obligation to my team to make 17 18 sure that happened, and though I was being offered jobs externally for some period of 20 time, I felt I wanted to stay and see this

21 through and put faith in the organization to 22 find me a role in the future, which I am still 23 hoping will happen.

> Q. You said you were head of global for only three months. What was your position

Blackwell - Highly Confidential prior to your position as head of global for Lehman?

A. I had global responsibility for prime services operations. I also had global responsibility for equity operations, and in addition to that I was European head of operations, so I commuted back and forth between London and New York almost on a weekly 10 basis for about a year, little less than a 11 year.

Q. Back to your compensation, can we 13 just break it into some components here just so 14 I understand it. I take it at Lehman you had a 15 base salary? 16

A. Yes.

Q. And what was that?

A. I think it was $200,000.

19 Q. And then you had -- am I correct to 20 say you had a cash component bonus and an 21 equity component bonus?

22 A. Yes, that's correct. Off the top of 23 my head I wouldn't be able to tell you. I could go back and look at documents and confirm it, but the number I recall would be

TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

1 Blackwell - Highly Confidential

2 $2.5 million of bonus, of which somewhere

3 between 50 and -- I would imagine somewhere

4 around 50 percent would be cash, 50 percent 5 securities, deferred five-year equity.

Q. And that was for 2007, you said?

A. Correct. 7

8 Q. Now, in 2008 your base salary was 9 still the same; correct?

A. Correct.

11 Q. Okay. And then you expected to make 12 3.2 in bonus, whether it's cash or equity?

A. No, my base was 200. I was expecting 3.5, so I was expecting 3.3.

15 O. You are right. I am bad at math. 16 When you went to Barclays, out of 17 that 3.3 did you receive any of it?

A. No.

Q. Did you receive any payment from Barclays that was supposed to have compensated you for your 2008 bonus?

22 A. I received a bonus in February in 23 the normal compensation cycle, so yes, I 24 received a bonus payment, but I think it was to compensate me for -- that it was to retain me

A. I was incredibly busy, incredibly busy. Friends and family were concerned and it's possible that I made reference to the fact that I would become a Barclays employee at some point, I assumed. I had an assumption. I had no knowledge that I would be and I had no discussions that were suggested I would be.

- Q. And so did I understand you correctly to say that you didn't have such discussions until after the closing of the sale 12 transaction?
- 13 A. Yes. It wasn't until, I think, the earliest the 24th. It was certainly into the -- post LBI's bankruptcy after the APA was 15 16 signed.
  - Q. And who did you have those discussions with at Barclays?
- 19 A. Carol Machell. At Barclays, Carol 20 Machell.
- 21 Q. Did you discuss it with Michael 22 Evans at all?
- 2.3 A. Absolutely not.
- 24 Q. And Carol Machell is the person who 25 ultimately became your supervisor?

Absolutely.

What do you recall about those 0. discussions?

A. The financial component was of little interest to me, frankly. I was expecting that we would discuss a role and the discussion didn't go very well, because I wasn't very happy in terms of the role. The focus wasn't on the financial components. I have no dependents. I don't -- the money isn't the main motivator in why I go to work. I was

- 13 looking for an interesting role in an
- organization which I thought would be an
- interesting place to be and the role that I was 15
- initially offered I thought was -- didn't meet 16 my expectations and, therefore, I actually 17
- considered leaving. What we had discussed in 18
- that first set of conversations was that I
- 20 would go away and think about it and, again, I
- 21 wanted to be responsible and work with Carol to
- 22 ensure there was a smooth integration, so that
- 23 wouldn't mean I would leave immediately, but

Q. Did you have any knowledge of the provisions in the APA that related to compensation?

A. No.

Q. Did you have any role in negotiating those types of provisions?

12 A. No. I was asked to make lists of people who were critical to certain things, but 13 that was it. 14

Q. Did you hear any rumors about how former Lehman employees were going to be compensated when they moved to Barclays?

- A. Can you be precise about the time frame you are talking about?
- Q. I am talking about the week of -let's talk about the week of September 15th. In other words, LBHI has filed, LBI has not vet filed, but that five-day period.

staff.

Q. Was there any back-and-forth on the numbers?

A. Yes, because it was -- the original contract I was offered was more money than this.

Q. So could you just summarize what the back-and-forth was?

A. It was more about the duration, the value of the contract, the cash award or whatever -- I don't recall the numbers exactly. but it was more than this contract.

Q. When you say "the duration," you mean the length of your expected employment?

16 A. This contract effectively has 17 several components, but I would look at it as a two-year contract, and the contract that I was 18 19 offered was a one-year contract with two years 20 of incentive payments. From memory. I may not 21 be precise. But certainly the role was the 22 core part of my focus. 23

A. No, it wasn't related to the bankruptcy. It was related to LBI's functioning, ongoing functioning.

Q. Okay. So what were you doing to assure LBI's functioning?

13 14 A. Ian asked me to do two things. Be 15 able to be -- be able to function -- have LBI 16 function as an entity by itself from an operational standpoint, so -- and also work 17 with treasury to create a funding ladder for 18 the week, so based on the settlement activity 20 that would be taking place over the course of 21 that week, lay out a cash flow, and also put a 22 payment protocol in so that no payment, no cash could leave LBI. So that was done. Myself and 24 Bridget O'Connor, who was the Lehman head of technology, went away and worked with our

Blackwell - Highly Confidential 2 respective teams and our teams then worked 3 together to execute that. We worked into, I think, the early hours of the night to 4 5 determine what we thought the cash flows would 6 be. I provided that ladder, funding ladder, to 7 the treasury department, which is run by Paolo 8 Tonucci.

Q. So you used a lot of words there. I just want to see if I understand.

Is this the financing that was provided by the Fed to LBI?

A. No. This is -- the cash flows -- in the securities business, exchange securities for cash. In the exchange of securities for cash, obviously some security is leaving, some securities are coming into inventory. Some client securities are coming in and leaving. And the associated cash flows that went with that was to understand what the net cash position each day would be if the firm had perfect settlement. And when I say "perfect settlement," I mean all transactions, so all securities and consideration settled on the contractual settlement date. TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

Q. So back to your role during that week, now on the 15th you learned that LBHI has filed for bankruptcy; correct?

A. Is that -- what day of the week --

Q. That's Monday.

A. That's the Monday. I think it was Sunday night.

Q. So you heard about it Sunday night?

10 A. I think so. It was the 14th. Late 11 Sunday night.

Q. What did you hear -- apparently on the 15th Barclays and Lehman start speaking again and they eventually arrive at an APA.

Can you describe for me any role you played in that process?

A. I didn't know that Barclays -- I wasn't involved in any of those discussions, so I played no role.

Q. Okay. So did the APA come as a surprise to you when you heard that?

A. I didn't know -- does the 22

23 agreement --

> Q. That was a bad question. How did you first hear that there

TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

Blackwell - Highly Confidential

was going to be a sale transaction between Barclays and Lehman?

A. I think on the Monday what I was asked to do as another set of actions was work towards a conversion and the way I would interpret a conversion is that there is going to be some -- either some asset sale or the whole organization is going to be sold as a 10 going concern, the LBI organization would be sold as a going concern. So I'm sure you can 11

12 see it in my e-mail as well, there was a series

13 of meetings to create a project plan, to 14 work -- which involved technology, finance,

15 operations, to have -- create a fully

16 functioning broker/dealer for whenever that was 17 going to be. So that was an incredibly onerous piece of work. These things normally take 18

19 months and years to create and we were given a

20 very compressed time frame to try and do that,

21 so I was trying to get a business up and 22 running again potentially. That's the way I 23 interpreted that. Those were my marching

24 orders at that point. So I had no idea what the content -- what sale meant.

Q. So in the end did Barclays end up getting the fails?

A. No. Barclays did not take responsibility for the clearance box, just the unencumbered assets sitting in the clearance box.

Q. Okay. I am not trying to put words in your mouth. So you were able or your team was able to take certain unencumbered assets out of the clearance box and somehow it was transferred to Barclays, just those assets?

MR. SHAW: Objection. Mischaracterizes prior testimony.

A. I made a schedule of unencumbered assets and in the following week there was discussion with the trustee of LBI to move some assets and some assets did move based on that schedule.

Q. Okay. And those were unencumbered assets?

Unencumbered assets. A.

So just so I understand, that would Q.

Blackwell - Highly Confidential not have included the fails?

3 A. Does not include the fails. Now, I 4 want to clarify one point here as it relates to

5 PIM, because PIM was the private investment

6 management business. That hadn't transferred 7 at that point. Assets did transfer

8 subsequently and the PIM business doesn't have 9 any fails either, its contractually-settling 10 business, so it's a non-fail environment. So 11 the full set of customer assets are in the 12 customer accounts.

13 MR. HINE: Let's mark this. 14 (Exhibit 64 B, e-mail dated 15

O. Mr. Blackwell, I am handing you a document marked as Exhibit 64 B, which is an e-mail between yourself and Mr. Eickbush dated September 18th, 2008 and it references in the subject line something called a fails call, and I believe this is the topic we have just been 21 22 discussing?

23 A. I'm sorry, what day is this? 24 Q. Upper right-hand corner says 25 September 18th.

2 Okay, yes. Α.

Q. Do you have any recollection of that fails call? A. I don't think Greg was on that call.

7 Barclays lawyers on that -- I think over that 8 night, so that's the Thursday night. Again, we 9 were trying to ascertain the value and the number of fails and, again, it's sort of 10 11

I have a recollection of a call with the pertaining to taking control of the box or just 12 taking the inventory.

Q. Okay. And do you recall anything 14 else about that call?

15 A. I provided data, which is, again, in my e-mail, which was provided to the Weil 16 lawyers as well, and that was the end of the 18 discussion. I think we spoke to Bart and just 19 told him what we had done and that was it and 20 that was the end of the issue until the 21 weekend. 22

O. I see the use of a phrase in this 23 e-mail "cherrypicking of assets." Do you see 24 that?

> A. Yeah. I don't -- he wasn't on the TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

Blackwell - Highly Confidential call, so this is conjecture and speculation on his part. I don't know. You would have to ask him why.

Q. Does that phrase have any meaning to vou in this context?

A. I think the latter part of that sentence makes more sense. I think what he is saying is, my interpretation of this, and you should ask Greg for his perspective, would be that the unencumbered securities within the box are part of any transaction potentially, and, again, he wasn't party to any deal details or nor was I, so this is his speculation, so he is speculating that it's unencumbered assets.

(Exhibit 65 B, e-mail dated September 19, 2008, Bates stamped 10298087, marked for identification.)

So I think we have created additional schedules since bankruptcy at Barclays which have been made available, so that's been the extent of my involvement. And

Q. Previously I mentioned that you have been designated as a 30(b)(6) witness for select issues in this case by Barclays, so I iust wanted to take a few minutes to address that issue in this deposition, so for this portion of the deposition it will be a 30(b)(6) deposition.

Q. Mr. Blackwell, I am handing you a copy of Exhibit 81 B, which is a copy of the Debtors' Second Rule 30(b)(6) Deposition Notice to Barclays on Issues Relating to the Transfer of Assets.

My first question is have you ever seen this document before?

A. In my discussions with Jonathan I think I may have seen some portion --MR. SHAW: We are not going to get into the substance of those discussions.

Q. I don't want to ask you about a privileged communication you might have had, but can you please turn to Schedule A of that document.

As I understand from Barclays, you have been designated as a witness as to the first two topics listed on that schedule, so

Page 168

Blackwell - Highly Confidential could you just take a minute and just take a look at those topics.

(Document review.)

A. Understood.

Q. Okay. You will see those topics relate to Schedules A and B that we have talked about previously in the deposition, so I just want to spend a little time talking about those two schedules.

Let's look at topic number 1. Were vou involved in the selection of the securities that made their way into Schedule A?

MR. SHAW: Objection to form.

Q. Let me rephrase it.

Were you involved in the selection of the securities that are listed in Schedule A to the Clarification Letter?

18 19 A. I was involved in the transfer of 20 the Fed assets over to Barclays, so in terms of selecting the assets, the selection was done as 21 22 I -- was done as I described, which was under 23 the terms of the repo agreement that was in place between Lehman and Barclays at that time, 24 so eligible collateral is a component of that TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

1 Blackwell - Highly Confidential 2 agreement and had been in place for some time. 3 So selection is done -- was done -- the assets 4 were put into the Fed repo. We know that there 5 were operational issues that I described in 6 terms of the assets changing because of the 7 settlement that took place at Chase, and then 8 there is also a subset of securities that 9 weren't eligible under the legal terms -- under 10 the commercial terms of the repo agreement 11 Barclays had in place with Lehman, which was standard practice, that's why the Fed had

12 13 stepped in and provided liquidity to the whole 14 market with the PDCF, so poorer quality 15 collateral was funded by the Fed. 16 So it was clear based on the schedules which securities fell outside of that in terms of their quality. So yes, my team worked with finance with the treasury team to refine that list based on that requirement, and in addition to that there were obviously some substitutions that had to take place to make up value, so my team worked again with finance and the clearance teams to drive that -- to 25 finalize that list, but the list is a

Page 170 Page 171 Blackwell - Highly Confidential Blackwell - Highly Confidential 1 2 2 the collateral that made its way into reflection of what moved. 3 3 MR. HINE: Okay. Let me go at it a Schedule A? 4 different way here. I have, unfortunately, 4 A. Mr. Blackwell, I am handing you a Q. Do you know if the value of the securities listed on Schedule A is what's 10 lengthy exhibit marked as 82 B, which is a 10 list -- it's a document Bates stamped BCI-CG listed here under the column Market Value? 11 11 12 00035134 through 35954. I am not going to ask 12 A. I don't know. It would be dependent 13 you about the contents of this entire document, 13 on how -- again, how -- I don't know how Paolo but I would like to direct your attention, if 14 ultimately put this together. 15 vou could take a minute and look at the page --Q. And when you say "Paolo," you are first page after the e-mail cover, the covering 16 talking about Mr. Tonucci? 16 17 e-mail, which is marked with the Bates number 17 A. Yes. 18 35138. Do you see that page? 18 Q. So it's his team that would do the 19 19 A. Yes. valuation of this schedule? 20 Q. Can you tell me whether -- you will 20 A. It's his team that created the 21 see in this page a little summary of different 21 summary. Jim Hraska and my team, Monty 22 classes of collateral and their market value. 22 Forrest, helped create the data and pushed it 23 Do you see that? 23 up to the treasury team for them to package. 24 A. # Q. And who did that analysis?

A. I would imagine it's going to be the finance team and Jim Hraska in conjunction maybe with the regulatory ops team.

Q. Were you involved in that analysis?

10 A. Not doing the analysis. I think I 11 have seen analysis over the months post 12 bankruptcy.

Q. Were you involved in reviewing the analysis that was done by others?

A. It's possible. I can't confirm that a hundred percent, but it's possible I reviewed analysis. There was no intent to move customer assets.

Q. When you say there was no intent to move customer assets, do you include in your definition of customers Lehman affiliates?

A. I include the way these schedules were created or the way that the unencumbered assets were created was using 931 inventory accounts, which are firm positions, firm being TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

A. I don't use the date. It's an account identifier. 931 is an account range.

Q. I understand.

A. So it's a distinct account range that we analyze, firm inventory accounts.

Q. Is it possible that Lehman's system showed that multiple parties, including customers of Lehman and Lehman itself, could have entitlement to the same security in the clearance box?

A. Yes, but there was a methodology applied to identify that.

Q. What was that methodology?

16 17 A. Again, using 931 accounts, taking the difference between the value of the 18 19 customer -- taking a total value of the 20 position in the box, taking only the component which was a -- taking only the component that 22 was the trading book component, and if that 23 trading book component was bigger than the 24 total position, then there was an adjustment 25 there as well, so absolutely we are taking the Blackwell - Highly Confidential most conservative component and if there was any doubt in terms of total position and if the position in the box was less than the -- was less than the -- less than or equal to the customer position, we left that position there. So we didn't -- there was a methodology for each of the schedules that absolutely was designed to protect the customer assets.

10 Q. So I understand this, if, for example, there were a million shares of IBM and 11 Lehman's books and records showed that there 13 was an entitlement to those million shares by a 14 customer and by Lehman, those under your methodology would have been excluded from your 16 list of unencumbered assets? 17

Α. Yes. That was the intent.

Q. Does the same apply to securities that Lehman's books and records show an entitlement to by not only Lehman, by which I mean LBI, the broker/dealer, but also a Lehman affiliate?

23 A. Jim would be a better person to explain exactly how he applied the methodology, but there was deliberate methodology applied to TSG Reporting - Worldwide (877) 702-9580

Page 254 Page 255 BURIAN BURIAN 1 2 2 A. Not in my hands, and as I said want an explanation of the deal, here is the 3 3 earlier, I knew that there was confusion and we deal. 50 billion of assets, they have 4 were concerned about what securities were going 4 dropped in value, and they are now -- we 5 5 and what appeared to be a difference in the agree with Lehman that these assets are worth 6 6 44 to 45, and therefore, you know, we were valuation, in the value of what Barclays was 7 getting, and that, you know, was there a 45.5 short. We are adding 1.9 billion of assets 8 8 billion in liabilities against 50 billion of that are unencumbered that were not part of 9 9 assets, and therefore, what he said to me was, the repo to get to a total of what Barclays 10 10 hey, 49.9 that you have been looking at is is getting of 47. 11 11 And that is my absolute understanding premark. That's stuff that relates to not 12 12 of the left, top left quadrant of the page today's value, that's premark. 13 and that 47 is tied to -- is the final number 13 We asked at one point premarked as of 14 14 when and he says, listen, it doesn't matter as compared to the 72 which is where what he 15 15 if it is, you know, what the date and when, said was the original contemplation when the 16 16 but I am telling you, when we came in this document was originally signed. 17 17 meeting today and we are trying to close the Q. Q. You don't recall whether you were told that before the hearing?  A. It is sort of like the name of the analyst.  Q. You don't remember?  A. I'm a little nervous to say yes because I don't have a specific recollection.  Q. Then that's fine.  Now, you wanted to tell me about the upper right-hand corner of this chart, Exhibit 338-B? The add box, that was basically  Michael Klein telling me in order to match up with the right side of the page, Barclays needed to be paid additional securities to balance the transaction. And therefore, we had to give him that they had to find securities that were not originally part of the Fed loan in order to make up for the liabilities being assumed and the deterioration in value.  Q. Now, this meeting or this conversation was not the first time you had heard of that asset category?  A. Of the 1.9 asset category?  Q. Yeah.  A. Oh, again, there was lack of precision about numbers have been flying around, but before this, I saw a clarification letter that talked about assets on a B list or something.  Q. So am I right that you had a number of conversations with Mr. Miller on this subject?  MS. SCHAFFER: Objection to form. A. The first one I tried to give you a context because it wasn't about this subject. It was about whether or not the estate should agree to give all that cash to Barclays. It wasn't like the conversation wasn't about going back to Judge Peck. The conversation was about, I don't know, I wouldn't be giving away that cash, and as you can see from the result, someone ultimately agreed with me that giving
